

Do-It-Yourself Project: Rain Chain

Turn that downspout into a functional and beautiful alternative. Remove the old metal downspout and install a brand new water chain that links to your rain barrel or some other form of water distribution system for those dry areas.

This is a great alternative in a high profile location of your back yard garden and gives you the opportunity to create an interesting and instructive focal point. Just make sure you direct the water away from the foundation of your home.
